DUST LAID IN WESTERLY STREETS

Use of Oil Causes Some Grumbling—War Game Among Motorists, with Wounds but no Fatalities—Improvement Society's Benefit at Watch Hill—W. R. C. Outing

By order of the highway committee of the Westerly town council Broad street was sprinkled with an oily substance, Thursday, and the dust nuisance in Dixon square has been abated. As an experiment oil was also placed on the granite block pavement between the trolley rails in Broad street and it is found to be practical and not detrimental or dangerous to automobile traffic. This same dust-laying material will be sprinkled upon the pavement in Canal, High and Main, the only paved streets in Westerly.

In the meantime, plans are being laid to take over the private watering cart owned by William Hook, so as to have it ready for use in case the experiment of oiling the pavement proves a failure. Here is where the cards are played in an alleged political game which is so deep that the ordinary, conservative citizen does not detect the alleged situation.

As is always the case, there is much fault finding in the oiling of Broad street by those who do not seem to realize that in order to get real benefit there must be some preliminary work done. If people would only be walking on the oiled streets, storekeepers must expect to have their store floors soiled for a day or two, still there is a fault finding in that street. In another day that objectionable feature will be obliterated, or as soon as the oil soaks into the ground. Automobiles, too, strange as it may seem, were numbered among the objects. Thursday, one woman automobile while driving from the street at moderate speed, came very near accident. Her automobile skidded on the oiled pavement and headed for the curb in front of the Public Library and Memorial building. But for her presence of mind and quick action there would have been an accident. The front wheels of the automobile struck the curb, before the machine was under full control, but no damage resulted.

Naturally, when the oil was first placed there were pools of oil in the small depressions of the street. The driver of a big automobile, bent the wheels of his vehicle through these pools at high speed, and the bright new tires became oil bespattered. Some of the stuff got by the mudguards and struck the highly polished body of the car. In this case the fault was all with the driver, who could easily have avoided the pools of oil that had disappeared before noon. Thursday continued the action of the highway committee. Thursday will rise and call them blessed on Friday, when the street condition is better appreciated.

Unless Rev. F. H. Decker, superintendent of the Fountain street church home, Providence, and the friends of the mission, can make arrangements to have the work continued under a new organization, the work will be discontinued. The present board of directors has made announcement to that effect. Rev. Mr. Decker, before going to Providence, was pastor of the Congregational church, Pawcatuck. He recently visited Alexander Smith, city missionary of Westerly, to assist him in the work in Providence.

Several automobile parties from Eastern Point, the Pequot colony, and Norwich, visited Watch Hill Thursday and attended the entertainments at the Watch Hill house for the benefit of the improvement society. There was a performance by the children in the afternoon, and in the evening amateur and professional entertainers. At each performance there was large attendance and the productions were finely given, new and special scenery being used for the most elaborate entertainments ever given at the Hill.

The affair was under the direction of the students and large number of students was added to the treasury of the improvement society.

Only the quick action and good judgment of James Mahoney of Westerly and Charles Hancock of Binghamton, N. Y., drivers respectively of touring cars owned by Charles A. Morgan and George H. Brown, a direct head-on collision was arrested on the Shore road, near the Samuel Bailey Hoile farm. The Morgan car was coming from Narragansett Pier and was well to the right of the road. In rounding the curve, Mahoney saw two cars coming from the opposite direction, one being the Brown car, which was just passing another car going in the same direction. The three cars were coming at a fast clip and there was not time to stop to avoid collision and not room enough for the three cars to pass. Hancock's car was well to the right of the road. He immediately swerved the car to his left and Mahoney, seeing the Morgan car between the two other cars, and thus a head-on collision was averted.

The rear portion of the Morgan car struck the Brown car a terrific blow, smashing the dash, tore the steering wheel from the frame, broke the mud guards and bent the step. The Morgan machine was also badly damaged. The third automobile was not injured. Although badly crippled the Brown and Morgan machines came to Westerly, under their own power.

Besides the chauffeur there were in the Morgan car, Charles A. Morgan, George Bray and Dr. Harold Kenyon of Westerly and Herbert Bardell of Providence. In the Brown car were chauffeur Hancock, Mr. and Mrs. H. Brown, E. E. Lewis and Mrs. E. L. Ellis of Binghamton.

Mr. Hancock was cut in the hip and in the hand and Mrs. Brown was cut in the face by contact with the high back of the front seat. Mr. Mahoney was bruised in the right arm. Mr. Bardell received a scalp wound and was cut and bruised in the face. Mr. Bray was rendered unconscious and there would have been a right leg and the small toe of his right foot broken, but was able to be at his business Thursday. The others were considerably shaken up and received slight bruises.

chased the Whitmore property on Elm street, has completed arrangements for the construction of a brick building on the site of the Whitmore home. Excavating for the cellar is underway. The building will be 33 by 77 and two stories in height. It will contain five stores, five offices and a hall on the second floor 75 by 55. This hall will be one the largest in Putnam and is intended for use by social gatherings. Mr. Poliquin has the plans for the structure completed and expects that it will be finished and ready for occupancy Dec. 1.

SATURDAY'S GAME.

Will Do Much to Decide the Pennant Winning Team.

The baseball fans in this town are at the season's highest state of interest and expectancy because of the baseball game that is to be played on the Providence street grounds Saturday when Jewett City will be here to either be crowned out of their position of a firm leader with Putnam in the Eastern Connecticut league race, or to scalp the Bonin outfit and step away with a clear lead for the flag.

If all the prospects are not away off on their guesses, the largest crowd that ever gathered on the Providence street grounds will be on hand to see the struggle. The bills for the game say that Boyle will "probably" do the pitching for Jewett City. This is very unlikely for in the first place, Jewett City has no right to use Boyle and in the second place because Boyle has agreed to go to Webster and do the pitching for Manager Clark's Williams-ville team against Manchester. In any event the game will be the most important that either Putnam or Jewett City has placed this season and will doubtless make a pennant winner out of the team that gets away with it.

The court imposed a fine of $1 and costs, in all $2.95. The woman's husband settled.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Does "Lay" or "Lie" Express It? Mr. Editor: In a copied article in today's Bulletin, bearing the heading "Fresh Air Cures Ills of Humanity," may be found the following:

"When insomnia has you in its grip, try breathing deeply and regularly as you lay in bed and you will be surprised how easily sleep will come."

Now, Mr. Editor, wouldn't it give one a better grip on sound sleep and sound English grammar to "lie" in bed and tell the truth? The hen "lays" an egg when she can; but she generally "lies" after her head is cut off.
